November 2017

The Kindertons Group is fully committed to protecting the rights and freedoms of EU citizens and we are therefore currently undertaking a compliance project to comply with the EU GDPR by its enforcement date of 25th May 2018.

As part of this project, we are conducting a number of activities including a GDPR gap analysis, creation of data inventories, data flow and mapping exercises, data protection impact assessments as well as many other security/privacy related activities. We aim to ensure that we have all relevant organisational and technical measures in place to ensure the security of our data processing by the 25th May 2018.

Over the coming months, we will be working with our customers and partners to define data processor and data controller responsibilities to ensure the security of data processing relating to our core activities. We are fully committed to working in partnership to ensure that all relevant measures are in place to maintain the confidentiality, integrity and availability of personal data is in place across the full supply chain and that the six plus principles of the EU GDPR are maintained at all times.
